(Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24—Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan wrote a new and spectacular chapter in the history of man's conquest of the air yesterday when he spanned the north American continent in less than a day.

The hazardous and grueling flight was his third attempt. He left Mitchell Field, New York, at 2:59 1-2 a. m. eastern standard time, halted briefly at five refueling stations enroute across mountains and plains, fought fatigue and constantly recurring nausea for 21 hours, 47 minutes and 45 seconds, and arrived at Crissy Field, San Francisco, at 9:46 o'clock, Pacific time, last night.

Worn and nervous from his long and bitter struggle with the perils of the air and the illness which had gripped him, the courageous trail blazer was engulfed in a cheering, wildly excited mass of humanity, which extended to him an almost unparalleled ovation upon his arrival.

Lieutenant Maughan soared from Mitchell Field in the waning light of a half moon, undaunted by prospects of none too favorable weather, a cloud-flecked sky and the knowledge of his two previous failures.

From the start he encountered rough weather. A dense fog over upper New York enveloped him. East of Pittsburgh he ran into a severe rain and windstorm. The first lap of the trip from New York to Dayton, 575 miles was covered in four hours and seven minutes.

Two sisters and six brothers survive: Mrs. Minnie McLemore of Moulton; Mrs. Sophronia Lamont of Athens and "attorney, Charles, Arthur, Oscar, Frank and Murray Dodd all of Albany. Mrs. Alexander was a faithful wife and mother, a good neighbor and a Christian whom all respected.

One of the favorite sentiments, oft repeated by Mrs. Alexander in life was: "God knows best. He does all things well; she was some body's love Christ waited her name above." The deceased was a member of the First Christian church here for over 20 years, and had lived here most of her life. She was born in Homer, Ga.

RANKIN RETURNS
FROM CONVENTION

Marvin R. Rankin, secretary of the Morgan Kiwanis club, returned Monday from Denver, Colo., where he attended the Eighth annual convention of Kiwanis International, representing officially the local club.

Mr. Rankin stated that out of 1240 clubs in Kiwanis International 943 clubs were represented at the convention with 1487 delegates, and with approximately 4000 Kiwanis visitors, the total attendance at Denver was nearly 6000.

"Speakers during the convention stressed the importance of every business man and Kiwanian in the United States expressing himself at the polls on election day," said Mr. Rankin. Statistics were presented, showing that an average of 50 per cent of the qualified voters in the United States voted in the presidential election in 1920, and that in some states the average was as low as 8 per cent.

"Probably the outstanding feature of the convention was the stand that Kiwanis International took with regard to the farmer; the order adopted a policy that every agency would be used to bring the farmer and the city man and merchant closer together during the next year, and thus increase the good feeling between the two, and make the farmer know that the city man is trying to help him.

"This is a program that will be undertaken by the local club during the next year.

"All during the convention the speakers urged higher business standards for all Kiwanians, and urged that every Kiwanian so live that his ideals would emanate from his very being.

"During the closing hours of the convention the following officers were elected for International during the next year: Victor M. Johnson, Bloomington, Ill., president; Ralph Ammerman, Scranton, Pa., vice president; Walter Taylor, Montreal, Can., vice president and Henry C. Heinz, Atlanta, Ga., treasurer.

"The next meeting place was selected to be St. Paul, with Seattle, Wash., running a close second and Washington, D. C., coming third in the voting.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 24—Officers in towns and cities adjacent to Memphis were on the alert today for trace of 37 of the 41 prisoners who, with improvised picks, tunneled their way from the Shelby county jail early last night and escaped.

Four of the prisoners were captured during the night and officers believed others would be apprehended today.

S. H. Moore, held in connection with the robbery of a cafe last week was captured within a few hours after he escaped. Two negroes were arrested last night at Covington and a third negro was picked up at a suburban railway station today.

Sheriff Knight said that Moore told him of the plans for the escape. Moore said, according to the sheriff,

SPECIAL TRAIN TO BRING VISITORS

One Hour Stop Will Be Made At Hartselle
By Dokey Special

With five imperial officers present, one of the greatest Dokey ceremonials in the history of the state will be held here on July 10. Announcement to this effect was made here today by Joe King Stanley, sheik of Aladdin temple, of Gadsden, who was here with Volary Jimmie James, also of Gadsden, to perfect plans for the ceremonial and to round up candidates for the initiation.

A special train will be operated from Birmingham to bring members of the organization from the Magic City and neighboring communities and the train also will bring the imperial officials. The presence of so many members of the imperial staff here is justified because of a conference held in Birmingham on July 9 and 10. The conference will adjourn for the ceremonial here.

The visitors will include all uniform bodies, consisting of band, drum corps, drill team and a full divan and marching club.

The special train will reach here during the morning of July 10, making a stop of one hour at Hartselle on the way here.

Mr. Stanley stated today that between 100 and 150 candidates are expected to furnish material for the initiation ceremonies here. The candidates will come here from Cullman, Hartselle, Decatur, Huntsville, Athens, Tusculumbia, Florence and Sheffield, he said.

The matter of local arrangements will be left largely in the hands of the local committee and announcement of further plans are expected within a few days.

that the wholesale delivery was engineered by H. Diggs Nolen, notorious police character, who is under sentences aggregating 19 years in the state and federal penitentiary. Nolen was brought here several days ago from the penitentiary at Nashville to testify in a federal court case.

The prisoners escaped by digging a hole in the three foot brick wall around the stockade. They had been permitted to exercise in the stockade and taking advantage of this opportunity, they tunneled through the outer wall, using pieces of an iron cot from one of the cells and a table knife and fork for picks.

Thirteen white men and 28 negroes escaped. Nolen and several of his companions commanded a delivery truck and forced the driver out and drove away, according to reports made to the sheriff.

HARRISON SPEECH
HIGHLIGHT OF DAY OF SPEEDY ACTION

Delegates, However are

Resolutions Pay Warm
Tribute To Memory
Of Mr. Wilson

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 24—The high notes of today's formal prelude to the impending spectacle in Madison Square Garden were the keynote address of Senator Harrison, of Mississippi as temporary chairman; appointment of the resolution, rules, credentials and other committees; sundry speeches and action on a resolution of respect in memory of Woodrow Wilson.

The delegates, however, were not given a day off by any means, for the actual start of the convention served as a signal for redoubled efforts by the campaigners for the host of candidates for the presidential nomination and by sponsors of numerous platform proposals.

The McAdoo and Smith forces, moving at a swift and rapidly accelerated pace, swept on with their opposing drives an the Underwood camp, its enthusiasm raised even higher by the Alabama senator's presence, also put on more speed.

Likewise the supporters of John W. Davis, Senator Ralston, James M. Cox and the numerous more or less dark horses seemed to find the going to their liking. Although the platform and rules report will give the 1098 delegates their first chance to battle for their opinion in the traditional manner, many of them expect the majority of such issues to be settled in committee after today's session and look for real fighting on the convention floor to start Thursday or Friday when the balloting on candidates begins.

Indications today are that the votes will be distributed on the initial ballot among at least 20 candidates, with William G. McAdoo having, as a start about 450; Governor Alfred E. Smith approximately 250 and Senator Underwood, Ralston, John W. Davis and James M. Cox about 50 each.

Others who will be in at the beginning, at least and some of them have first call and all the time supporters, include Governor Silzer, of New Jersey, Senator Ferris of Michigan, Senator Glass of Virginia, Governor Johnathan Davis of Kansas, Senator Harrison of Mississippi, Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, Governor Brown of New Hampshire, Governor Bryan of Nebraska, Governor Sweet of Colorado former Senator Saulsbury of Delaware and Senator Kendrick of Wyoming.

Under the somewhat tentative program devised by the convention managers, the nominating speeches will be made tomorrow to give the resolutions committee time to build a platform out of the mass of material prepared largely in advance for its consideration.

The caucuses yesterday and last night emphasized, rather than diminished, the uncertainty that prevails generally among the delegates as to the outcome of their labors.

Much dissatisfaction with the unit rule was expressed in the caucuses, however, and this offered the most likely prospect of fight over rules when they are taken up tomorrow.

The group advocating the specific denunciation of the Klan and those opposed to naming of organizations both received reinforcements yesterday. The former gained in the arrival of Senator Underwood with a vigorous anti-Klan plank and through the decision of the Mass., and Ohio delegations, instruction Senator David I. Walsh and Newton D. Baker, respectively, to press similar declarations.

Ruled by Foster.

William Z. Foster, Communist leader, rode roughshod over the more conservative element of the Farmer-Labor Progressive Party in session in St. Paul, Minn., and roundly denounced U. S. Senator La Follette, whose Presidential candidacy the meeting had been called to advocate.

PASTORS' UNION TO CONTINUE SESSIONS

At a special meeting of the Morgan County pastor's union held recently it was decided to rescind the action of the union of some weeks ago adjourning the regular meetings of the union until September, and action was taken to resume regular meetings beginning Monday, July 6.

Rev. Noble R. Edwards, the president of the council, led to discussion in favor of "no-vacation" for the organization. The special meeting was called to hear a report from a committee composed of representatives from many local churches as headed by Judge L. P. Troup, of a statement of principles relating to civic organization, but the committee submitted no report. It is expected that following a general sentiment as expressed in and outside the pastor's union, that local pastors will preach sermons soon on the importance of enforcement of law and the observance of law.

It was announced at the called meeting that at the July 6 gathering of the union, the question of Sabbath observance will be taken up.

Ford Describes The Denver Convention

Morris Ford is among the few in this section who attended the Democratic national convention in Denver in 1908 and was close up with the Tennessee delegation when W. J. Bryan's large picture was let down before the speaker's stand, a moment before the Nebraskan was named for President.

Mr. Ford stated the demonstration was a noisy one then, but that it was only a part of the hour and fifty-six cheering time, and that the cheering began when the blind Senator (Gore) from Oklahoma began to speak for Bryan. Judge Henry D. Calton, was temporary chairman of the convention stated Mr. Ford.

When the Alabama delegation was called, its spokesman gave way to Oklahoma, and Gore named Bryan. Mr. Ford stated that the Nebraska standard was the first to be wrenched from its place by wildly cheering delegates. Led by Nebraskans, the march around the auditorium began which consumed almost two hours. Mr. Ford said that where delegates undertook to keep their seats, the Bryan delegates would pull them into the triumph march about the large hall. Mr. Ford could tell many interesting details about the Denver convention, but when asked as to who was named for vice-president with Bryan, the local man was stumped.

(Associated Press)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, N. Y., June 24—The democratic convention came to order for the first session at 12:43 o'clock after delaying the opening to allow the police to straighten a traffic jam outside, which was keeping hundreds of delegates and visitors from the hall.

Chairman, Hull, looking refreshed and better after his attack of exhaustion and heat, brought down the gavel. In brief words he called the great assembly to order and gave way to Cardinal Hayes, who offered the invocation.

The great audience stood in silent reverence as the voice of the prelate penetrated to the furthest part of the big garden.

At the conclusion of the prayer, the band struck up the "Star Spangled Banner" and from the recesses of the bunting and flags upon the rafters, thousands of little American flags were released and fluttered down over the heads and shoulders of the delegates.

Then, while the band softly played the national anthem, Anna Case, of the Metropolitan opera company, sang it and the great audience joined in the refrain.

When the convention went through the usual performance of having its official picture taken, there was a laugh on the floor when the photographer, stationed in a gallery, asked that every one be seated for the siles were literally crowded with those who had no seats allotted them.

The formal announcement that Senator Harrison had been selected for temporary chairman got a cheer from the convention floor and galleries.

There was frequent applause too as the names of the other temporary officers were read off.

The women delegates held up a patter of handclapping as the names of many women were read among those selected by the national committee to serve in conspicuous places in the big quadrennial conclave.

The new chairman quickly got a taste of what the duties of a presiding officer of the turbulent convention are to be like. The delegates rose and cheered him for an additional minute, while he was pounding for order and the opening sentences of his speech referring to corruption in high places were interrupted constantly with hurrahs.

Another real cheer and cries of "go to it Pat" greeted the senator's reference to the presence of Harry Daugherty as a delegate to the Cleveland republican convention, "the worst boss ridden convention of a generation."

Looking very hot and uncomfortable in his long tailed black coat the temporary chairman launched rapidly into his prepared address as if determined to get it over with quickly, but he put a lot of emphasis into parts of it and the delegates, in old time convention fashion, interrupted him with cries of "good," and "hit 'em again" as he lambasted the republican party as a party of bosses and big business and declared the democrats were interested rather in honesty and equal opportunity.

Rolling along on a great wave of party enthusiasm, despite its deep differences over candidates, the democratic national convention gave itself over to cheers for the party and roaring approval of temporary Chairman Pat Harrison's lambasting of the Harding-Collidge administrations.

A DAILY PRAYER—We ask Thee to deliver us from the melancholy caused by sin, and to bring joy to us out of our mourning.

It does no good to come out of the woods ignorance into the open fields of wrong doing.

The three leading candidates for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency: Underwood, McAdoo and Smith are too well known to be commented upon. The pro-Smith and pro-McAdoo forces are so bitterly opposed to each other and are such powerful forces it is unlikely that either will receive the nomination.

The dark horses now most prominently in the foreground appear to be John W. Davis, of West Virginia and Carter Glass of Virginia.

These men are something more than just favorite sons. The Virginians in the convention beginning Tuesday are sure to put up a stiff fight for Mr. Glass. When a break comes as is sure in the fight over Smith and McAdoo, the name of Glass is apt to be presented to the convention in a winning manner. Mr. Glass has been prominently connected with national affairs. He has served in congress with distinction and was one of President Wilson's confidential advisors. Conceivably it will be easy for the defeated McAdoo forces, if they are defeated to turn to Carter Glass. Mr. Glass is said to be a master of "the nation's fiscal affairs."

Both Glass and Davis are well known to the American voters. Mr. Davis is recognized as an able and conscientious lawyer of the first rank. He is known for his ability all over the world. He was ambassador to England during the time the fight over the league of nations was at its height. Mr. Davis is said to be especially well versed on foreign affairs.

Other dark horses are Governors Cox and Ralston, Newton D. Baker, the Cleveland attorney who was in President Wilson's cabinet, and Senators Walsh and Robinson.

Alabamians of course, will watch for the nomination of the man endorsed in this state, but should the nomination pass him by, then the nomination of either Glass or Davis, with Davis, the favorite, is very possible.

Clinton W. Gilbert, a Washington correspondent of high reputation for independence of thought, has lately written in "The Daily Mirror" of Washington on why Ford was not allowed to have Muscle Shoals.

Mr. Gilbert's point of view reflects no credit upon those whom he talks about. He says the politicians, opposing Ford, took heart, the moment the Detroit man decided not to run for the Presidency, but to "leave it to Calvin." Before Ford's unexpected and unusual statement endorsing Coolidge was made, Mr. Gilbert explained that except for a "few hard boiled fellows from Wall Street," when it looked like Ford would seize political power unless given the Shoals, all were willing to surrender and let the farmers have their way as to the Shoals.

"All the political parties were of one mind, that Ford should have the Shoals."

He said Ford was spoken of as "a great factor of the human race, who deserves every dollar of the success he has had."

Then Gilbert says beginning with the turn against Ford by the politicians and ending a fine slant at the dear people generally.

Just at this moment Henry Ford announced that he didn't want the Government of the United States; he wanted Coolidge to have it. This put a different look on things. The people who had been regarding Ford as the voice of discontent, began to feel as toward Hiram Johnson in the recent primary campaign. Why the fellow thought only of selling cars and having his taxes reduced. A pretty way to express discontent by demanding four more years of Mellon.

The politicians took heart. The Republicans, the democrats and the progressives were unanimous. "If Ford doesn't want the government of the United States, why, then, give him Muscle Shoals?" they all asked. And it was soon just as patriotic not to give him the Shoals as a few weeks earlier it had been to give them to him. Why, that man Ford was the worst power-grabber of them all. He wanted the Shoals for a hundred years when the most rapacious of the "interests" asked only for a fifty-year lease. Besides, he was too big already, with his motor company and railroads and his coal mines and his water power. The octopus. So the menace of Ford is past. There is no reason why we should ever feel again that we have to give him something big to keep him from taking the Government of the United States. Thanks to the patriots in congress, we know now that he is an octopus.

As for Muscle Shoals, we can't give it to Ford. We can't give it to any of the interests, although they are much better than Ford. We can't give it to the Government to own and run. It's too big for any of these dispositions. It's wonderful to create something so big that you can't do anything with it for fear that it will turn out to be bigger than yourself. It proves that you are a great people.

In a recent issue of the Pictorial Review appeared an editorial by Ida Clyde Clarke, in which she asserted that "the 27,000,000 women voters of America have written their platform, that it is all finished and that they are standing on it with both feet." She says that this platform has two planks. "First, women insist upon immediate national and international measures that will insure the peace of the world." And, second, "women insist that there shall be respect for law as it is written in the constitution."

It may be worth while to analyze this in the light of figures. In the presidential election of 1920 the total popular vote cast was 26,655,866. That was the high-water mark in the United States as respects the number of votes cast in any general election. The majority of those ballots were cast by men. Therefore, it is obvious that there are not 27,000,000 women voters in America. It may be that there are 27,000,000 women in this country. They are not voters until they qualify for the suffrage.

There has been no gathering representing the whole body of enfranchised womanhood of America. Whatever the sentiment of spokesmen for some women's clubs and organizations may be as to peace and observance of law, there has been no authorized body to frame or adopt a platform. Hence the statement of Mrs. Clarke is sweeping and appears to be founded on no sentiment peculiar to the women of the country. That sentiment in general is held by men, as well as women. Few there be who do not desire peace. The desire to abolish war is not confined to women. Yet there is reason to believe that women can do more to bring about the change of a larger percentage of the mwould qualify to exercise their franchise.

"But above all the din of the political groups and the professional organizers," says Mrs. Clarke, "the voice of the American woman rings high and clear. She is saying to national political parties: We don't care how you do it—but do it. We insist on a way to stop war. Show us what you have to offer." This would suggest that the women are standing on the outside with no purpose of joining in for the realization of a great boon in the establishment of permanent peace and in a decent observance of law. Do not these responsibilities rest upon both the sexes since universal suffrage is in effect? More co-operation through the practical way which is open to women would produce better results than by undertaking to place all the responsibility on the men.

There is no more effective way for the American women to bring about the big things which are necessary for the moral, mental and material development of this country than for them to qualify for the franchise and use their efforts to put in public positions of trust men and women of capacity, courage and integrity.—Age-Herald.

THEY ARE PROMINENT IN NEWS OF THE DAY.

Above: MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT & MRS. HERBERT HOOVER.
 Below: GENERAL J. J. PERSHING & JUDGE JOHN R. CAVERLEY.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover was said to be the one who decided that her husband should not consider overtures to be the Vice-Presidential nominee on the Republican ticket because she did not want him to be relegated to a minor political place.

Judge John R. Caverley, of Chicago, will probably be the presiding judge in the trial of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., self-confessed murderers of little Robert Franks.

General John J. Pershing visited scenes of his youth when he attended commencement exercises at West Point Military Academy, and took the salute as the graduating cadets filed by.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Democratic National Committee, presided at a pre-convention meeting of prominent women who are interested in the form which plans shall take in the Democratic platform.

Visiting Minister Guest Of Aunt Here

Elder J. B. Bradley, well known minister of the West End church of Christ, Birmingham, Ala., returning to his work, spent Sunday night with his aunt, Mrs. Laura Seamans 239 Johnson street, Albany. He was been away from his charge more than three months at the bedside of his wife, who died in Dickson, Tenn., June 12, 1924. She had been ill more than nine months.

A matter worthy of note in this case was the fact that the congregation for which he labors sent his salary each month, while at the bedside of his wife, a testimony to the high esteem in which he and Mrs. Bradley have been held by the church. Elder Bradley has been the minister for this influential congregation for nearly three years and goes back to take up his work with them for a definite time.

National Foot Comfort Week, June 21st-28th; Thousands of Shoe Stores Will Observe It

HOW POOR FEET LOWER THE EFFICIENCY

Foot weaknesses and defects affecting almost the entire population of the United States are said to be the price of modern living and of widespread ignorance or neglect of the proper care of the feet.

These have reached alarming proportions, if army figures and those of school authorities, army and other experts throughout the United States are to be relied upon.

"Dr. Bacon of the University of Kansas, stated that ninety per cent of all students were foot defective and that among the girl students he had found only one pair of perfect feet. Among three hundred and thirty-eight girls one hundred and six were flat footed, eighty-two had abnormally curved arches and eighty-seven had either right flat or left abnormally curved arches," according to W. Gerard, provisional podiatrist of the Iowa National Guard in the "Iowa Health Bulletin."

"The Haskell Institute for Indian girls, according to this authority, discovered that all students had acquired foot ailments after wearing shoes and after walking on cement walks, hardwood floors and pavements."

"Colonel Munson, Medical Corps, United States Army, during four years' study of foot conditions, discovered that ninety out of every hundred men were foot defective and required attention and rectification."

"The most alarming indictment of the country's feet is published in 'Defects in Drafted Men,' a post war book (1920) summarizing the findings of the army examining boards and prepared under the direction of the U. S. Surgeon-General."

Pedographic imprints of customers' feet taken in twenty thousand shoe stores in the United States and Canada, showed almost universal foot defectiveness. Twenty-three cartons of pedographs taken in a shoe store in Coshocton, Ohio, showed foot defectiveness, according to reports and imprints forwarded to Dr. William M. Scholl of Chicago.

Campaigns have been waged for years on defective teeth, bad eyes and tonsils. Schools, factories, public clinics and welfare organizations have responded and are now taking ever precaution against such diseases. But how many school teachers, doctors, executives and people ever think of their feet? asks an authority.

"Laziness," fatigue, mental deficiency and suffering throughout the body can be caused by ailing feet. Just as a huge building requires a solid foundation, so too, the human body requires solid, strong walking machinery.

Bullard To Speak At Legion Meet

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., June 24—Speaking to the Alabama department of the American Legion, here in annual convention July 3, 4 and 5, General Robert Lee Bullard will discuss "The Men of the American Legion—Their Services and Merits." The address will be delivered in Morgan Hall on the campus of the University of Alabama at noon on July Fourth and will be the principal address of the convention. The subject has just been announced.

The General in a letter just received by Major J. C. Persons, commander of the Tuscaloosa post which has charge of the convention program, says that he is probably to be accompanied to Tuscaloosa by his daughter and that he is especially interested in seeing the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa. All those who attend the convention will have the same opportunity to see the University and the work being accomplished there.

The department of Alabama has selected Cecil F. Bates a leading attorney of Mobile and past commander of the Mobile post of the Legion, to respond to addresses of welcome which will be made by Tuscaloosans. His selection completes the convention program, though details of the business sessions and the banquet are being worked out.

Plans are now being completed for the meeting of the Society of Forty and Eight in Tuscaloosa at the time of the Legion convention. Legion headquarters on the third floor of the city hall will be turned over to that organization for its business sessions, and a banquet is being planned for one night. Plans have not yet been completed for the Alabama Reserve Officers Association.

Montgomery, one of the cities in the state to select delegates for the Tuscaloosa convention, has named 21 men including Congressman J. Lister Hill. The delegation to come from that city will include Marion Rushton, last year prominently mentioned for the office of department commander and expected to again be a candidate for the office this year.

The registration booth will be held in the chamber of commerce building next door to the convention hall. Please register the morning of the first day.

If you are neglecting to take advantage of the opportunities the want ad columns are offering you, you are horning away a key which might unlock the door which leads to additional income. Can you afford that?

Children make constipation a habit—relieve them with Kellogg's Bran

Children punish themselves terribly by ignoring nature's demands. They bring constipation upon themselves. They invite the many other diseases which can be traced to constipation. Immediate steps should be taken to rid them and keep them free from this disease.

It takes ALL bran to be 100 per cent effective. That's why doctors everywhere recommend Kellogg's Bran. That's why Kellogg's Bran carries a money-back guarantee to bring permanent relief, if eaten regularly, in the most chronic cases of constipation. That is why Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, has brought glorious, glowing health to thousands—because it is ALL bran.

No matter how long one has suffered with constipation, Kellogg's Bran will bring permanent relief IF EATEN EVERY DAY—at least two tablespoonsful—in chronic cases, with every meal.

Kellogg's Bran is delicious. It has a crisp, nut-like flavor that simply delights the taste. It is a wonderful surprise if one has been used to ordinary, unpalatable bran.

There are many ways to eat Kellogg's Bran. Eat it with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Look for the recipes on every package and try it in muffins, bread, griddle cakes, etc.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is made in Battle Creek and is sold by grocers everywhere. It is served by the leading hotels and clubs.

ONLY ONE PERSON IN FIFTY KNOWS HOW TO WALK CORRECTLY—SAY LESS

A WEAKENED LONGITUDINAL ARCH MAY BREAK YOUR HIGH HEELS IN THIS MANNER

THIS PICTURE CLEARLY SHOWS WHAT DISTORTED FEET CAN DO TO SHOES. BOTH THE LONG TAIL AND TRANSVERSE WICKLES OF THE FOOT ARE FALLING INWARD

METATARSAL ARCH WEAKNESS WILL DISTORT MOST ANY SHOE

A COMMON SIGHT, FALLEN ARCHES WILL RUIN ANY SHOE. SOON CAN CORRECT THIS CONDITION

MISS EFFIE SMITH, 1924, SAID TO POSSESS PERFECT FEET. NOTE BEAUTIFUL ARCH IN COMPARISON WITH THAT OF HER COMPANION. GOOD FEET MAKE SHOES LAST LONGER

"There are today about 20,000,000 children in the United States of school age. But of this number 1,060,888 are working; 714,000 of which are boys and 346,810 girls. Of all these children fifty per cent, a most conservative estimate, will have foot trouble when they grow up. Indeed, foot defects among children are to be listed among the most serious handicaps. 'Growing Pains' said to be a trifling matter is a barometer to the intelligent layman of internal disorders. When children cry out at night, many times in pain, how often is the cause attributed to the possibility of ailing feet? Improperly fitted shoes, short boots, and bad posture are frequent causes of ailing feet. Toeing out, like Charley Chaplin, is bad for the feet as it throws the weight toward the inner border of the foot."

Social causes and a biological insufficiency of the foot are given as the principal factors in the failure of the foot. In the biological phase, it is said there is evidence of an incomplete adaptation of the bones, ligaments, and muscles of the foot of man to his upright position.

In any event, our forefathers walked in the woods, forests, and prairies on soft, resilient surfaces while modern man crushes his feet down on hard paved surfaces, marble, cement, and hardwood floors, which injure the shock-absorbing capacity of the arches of the human foot, bring the body's weight into contact with the earth with sledge hammer blows, and disorganize the nervous system. Another social cause is the increased disuse of the foot.

No part of the bone structure of man is subjected to such powerful forces as are those of the foot. These forces arise in the body's weight, and exert an enormous pressure upon the foot structures. If we could measure the pressure in foot pounds transmitted through our feet in a single active day we would be amazed.

On the authority of a state health bulletin certain investigations and data show that before the adoption of pavements, there prevailed only two per cent arch defects, but, after the adoption of the same, the percentage has reached the high level of forty per cent.

In view of the widespread ignorance and neglect of the foot hygiene, National Foot Comfort Week, has been announced for the week of June 21st-28th inclusive. Thousands of shoe stores in the United States and Canada will observe National Foot Comfort Week. The shoe store is the first point of contact with the public's feet. A recent computation is that 930,000 pairs of men's, women's, and children's shoes are sold daily in the United States.

National Foot Comfort Week was proposed eight years ago by Dr. William M. Scholl of Chicago. At first the number of shoe stores participating was limited to a few hundred. But the idea took hold, and it is estimated that last year no less than twenty thousand shoe stores in the United States and Canada observed National Foot Comfort Week.

There has never been a time, it is said, when shoe manufacturers have done as much to enlighten the public as to foot hygiene as at present. A great number of people are being educated every day about footwear. Soundly conceived shoes are being extensively advertised in the magazines and daily newspapers. Never has there been such fine footwear for children as is now sold. The chiropodist, orthopedist, and the trade press are constantly preaching foot hygiene, and not a little is done by the daily press. But the shoe salesman reaches everyone at the time thought is given to the feet. It is believed that with education most of the foot troubles that beset humanity can be eliminated.
